

Dr Antoinette Ba-Nguz is the Immunization Regional Coordinator with UNICEF Regional Office for Eastern and Southern Africa since August 2018. She is responsible for leadership and guidance on immunization programming to 21 UNICEF country offices and the collaboration with global and regional immunization stakeholders.

Dr Ba-Nguz has 30 years of professional experience working with international agencies and international non-profit organisations where she held senior management and coordination positions in the field of maternal and child health programmes with a focus on health systems and vaccination policy decision-making.

Dr Ba-Nguz is a medical doctor with a specialization in Paediatrics from the Université of Dakar; she holds a Master in Tropical Bio Medical Sciences from the Antwerp Tropical Medicine Institute (Belgium) She is a national from Senegal